   ELEVET ELEVATES VETERINARIAN CARE NATIONWIDE BY OFFERING
   HD STETHVET® HD MEDICAL’S NEW EKG-ENABLED INTELLIGENT STETHOSCOPE

Santa Clara, CA – February 14, 2019, ELEVET Technologies of Naples, FL and HD Medical, Inc. of Silicon Valley, CA today announce they have signed a distribution agreement. According to the terms of the agreement, ELEVET will exclusively offer HD StethVet® to the veterinarian community nationwide. HD StethVet is an intelligent stethoscope with integrated EKG; this provides instantaneous insights from evidence-based medical diagnosis of an animal’s health.

HD StethVet’s ruggedized packaging has the look and feel of the familiar stethoscope making it a natural transition for veterinarians. HD StethVet transforms the way medicine is practiced at the point-of-care through real-time visualization of cardiac waveforms, EKG and body sounds on a mobile device. With patented sound processing technology which provides optimum amplification and noise cancellation, HD StethVet is perfect for environments with significant ambient sound such as a busy veterinary clinic.

“We are very excited to have ELEVET Technologies offering HD Medical’s latest intelligent stethoscope solution, HD StethVet, to help veterinarians more effectively care for their animal patients,” states Arvind Thiagarajan, HD Medical Founder and CEO. “Additionally, the ability to display, record, save and transfer visual plus audio health data for group consumption make HD StethVet ideal for veterinary colleges where the next generation of veterinarians are being taught.

“Now veterinarians have access to the only advanced intelligent stethoscope with EKG, enabling accurate and instant diagnosis of animal cardiac and body conditions;” said Chris Scott, ELEVET Technologies President. "This is particularly important in clinics where follow-up tests can be difficult, time consuming and costly.” HD StethVet is consistent with ELEVET’s philosophy of delivering the latest design, technological and usability breakthroughs to better serve veterinarians and their patients, helping to grow veterinary practices.
